OPENING ALLIED OFFENSIVE

The opening of the allied offensive at Saloniki has been the signal fce renewed reports that Rumania is at last about to throw in her lot with the entente. These reports are more circumstantial than before and German press comments indicate that they are far from being devoid of foundation. One Berlin newspaper declares that Rumania already has joined the allies and that plans are being laid for the march of a Russian army through Rumanian ter-ritory. Major Moraht, the Gorman military critic, also believes that Rumania is negotiating with Russia and hints at an ultimatum to Bucharest from Germany and Austria.

The entry of Rumania into the war on the side of the entente would mean the forging of another link in the chain of foes surrounding the central powers, the material aid which Rumania could give would be of an important character. She has had between 500,000 and 600,000 troops mobilized for nearly a year and her army is reputed to be one of the best equipped and trained in Europe. Apart from possible Russian reinforcement, Rumania would be in a position to deal a powerful blow at Bulgaria from the north in conjunction with the

It has been generally understood that Russia has been willing to concede the province of Bessarabia, the population of which is largely Rumanian, in return for Rumanian co-operation in the war. Bessarabia is 18,000 miles square in extent and has a population of nearly 2,000,000.

The British and French advancing on the right have crossed the Struma. pushing northeastward towards the Bulgarian frontier. At the same time the Serbians who have opened a drive for Monastir report the capture of Bulgarian first line trenches. On the extreme left, however, immediately south of Monastir, they have suffered a reverse and have evacuated the Greek town of Banica. In the center, at the mouth of the great valley of the Vardar, the main highway through Serbia, violent artillery action is in progress. It was down this valley that the Teuton-Bulgarian forces made their victorious advance, and according to military experts, its possession is vital to whoever holds Serbia. Reports from Saloniki say that Italian troops have landed there and will join in the general offensive. This, if confirmed, means that Italy has decided formally to declare war on Germany, as the Germans are admittedly directing the Bulgarian campaign. At certain points on the front Berlin reports the Bulgarians on the offensive, but London and Paris interpret this as a move for protective purposes and not as a serious attack against Saloniki. A desire to affect public opinion in Rumania and to influence the approaching Greek elections is the motive behind Bulgaria's aggressive action, in the opinion of the allied capitals.

Fierce tighting continues in the region of the Stokhod, on the eastern where the Russian advance menaces Kovel and the German salient at Pinsk. The battle on the crest of Carpathians also rages, both sides claiming miner

On the western front there has been no material change in the situation since the allies started their great attack Friday. German counter attacks made at several points along the British lines, according to London, met with no success. The Germans also have made a powerful effort to recapture Fleury, in the Verdun sector, but Paris reports a complete repulse.

The repeated unofficial reports that Portugal was about to take an active share on the European battlefield apparently are confirmed by an announcement from Paris that British-French military commission has been sent to Lisbon. Dispatches from Portugal have described military preparations of a very extensive character, but there has been nothing to indicate the number of AMSTERDAM (via London), August 22.—The Rumanian situation again is taking a leading place in the war news. Dispatches from Berlin and Bucharest, via Berlin, describe the relations between Rumania and the Germanic atlies as extremely serious. Wolff bureau dispatches hint that an Austro-Cerman ultimatum is in preparation.

German public opinion apparently is not alarmed at the prospect of Rumania's substitute war. Officials view the cituation calmly and a similar attitude is being maintained in Vienoa. According to reliable sources in Bulgaria the prospect of a war with Rumania remains popular, owing to the deania remains popular, owing to the de-sire of the Bulgarians to regain Dob-rudja, territory lying along the Black Sea lost by the treaty of Bucharest in
